"A genuine dance orchestra..." is probably the best way to describe Palmehave-orkesteret ("The Palm Garden Orchestra"), based in Denmark and founded back in 1973. It consists of 12-17 musicians, conducted by Louise Brolin Thomsen.

The music is a mix of swing, Latin rhythms, newer popular hit music, and, as the orchestra's name indicates, popular music for entertainment and dance. In brief: "Real dance music for a grown-up audience"

The horn sections play saxophones, clarinet, trumpets and trombones, supported by the rhythm section on bass, keyboard, guitar, drums, and sometimes a little percussion. Some of the members also act as singers.

Most of the tunes are arranged for Palmehaveorkesteret by our conductor Louise Brolin Thomsen or by former conductors Kurt Madsen and Birger Henriksen

Palmehaveorkesteret loves giving the audience a nice musical experience at all festive occasions.
